STATE OF MONTANA
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE
Helena, Montana

October 10, 1956

Honorable J. Hugo Aronson
Governor of the State of Montana
Capitol Building
Helena, Montana

My dear Governor Aronson:

In conformity with the requirements of Section 71-209 of the revised Codes of Montana, 1947, I am submitting herewith the Report of the State Department of Public Welfare for the period beginning July 1, 1954 and terminating June 30, 1956.

This is a report of the two preceding fiscal years showing the operations of the department and furnishing information about all its principal activities, giving the source and amounts of funds received and the purposes for which they have been expended. The informaation is contained in some written explanations under the headings of each activity and is supported by tables referred to by number.

The figures presented in the report have been audited by the State Examiner's Office and by federal officers and found by them to be true and accurate.

Respectfully submitted,

W. J. Fouse, Administrator.

REPORT

Public Assistance

INTRODUCTION

During the biennium of July 1, 1954, through June 30, 1956, the State Department of Public Welfare continued to supervise the administration of the public welfare program in Montana, as required by State Law.

The public assistance programs supervised by the State Department and administered by all of the counties include Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to Needy Blind, Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled, and General Assistance.

Cooperation between the several counties and the State Department has been excellent and has contributed much to sound operation of public welfare in this State.

STANDARDS OF ASSISTANCE

During the period under report, the standards of assistance used to determine the amounts of individual payments to recipients of the categories were thoroughly re-evaluated.

The cooperation of the Montana State College at Bozeman resulted in a survey of food prices in more than twenty communities throughout the State. This survey established the cost of food on a current basis, and resulted in changes in the money amounts allowed recipients for the purchase of food.

Studies were also made of the cost of clothing, which resulted in the conclusion that the amounts allowed for these purchases remain adequate.

The evaluation of the standards resulted in reducing the number of need items from a potential of fifteen to just four. These four include all of the individual items previously considered, but the regrouping was done for the purpose of simplifying the development of individual budgets, and through them, the determination of the amount of payment for individuals.

The substantiation of the costs of those things which assistance recipients must buy gives assurance to each recipient that his needs are being met on the basis of today's prices. The fact that the cost survey was done by an agency not a part of the Department assures recipients that the studies were objective.

CASELOAD TRENDS

Caseloads for Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to Needy Blind, and General Relief continued to decrease during the past two years.

The decrease in Old Age Assistance has been approximately ten per cent. For the nation as a whole, the decrease in the Old Age Assistance caseload during the same period has been only two per cent.

For Aid to Dependent Children, the decrease in Montana in the past two years has been ten per cent, while for the nation as a whole, the Aid to Dependent Children caseload increased six per cent during the same period.

The decrease in the Aid to Needy Blind caseload has not been substantial, primarily because of the fact that this caseload is relatively small and is more stable than the others.

Because the program of Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled is quite new, having been established in October, 1950, there has continued to be some increase in this load. It cannot yet be predicted when this caseload will become stabilized and possibly begin the same downward trend as for the older programs.

SPECIAL SERVICES IN PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Vocational Rehabilitation services for blind people continue to be provided by the State Welfare Department. Unlike the categories of public assistance, these services are provided directly by State Department staff, rather than county department staff. Vocational Rehabilitation services for the Blind require highly specialized skills.

Physical restoration services for blind people and Vocational Rehabilitation plans have resulted in thirty-four successful rehabilitations during the past two years. These services have resulted in this number of people being returned to self-dependency and self-support.

In the period reported, State financed medical services resulted in 131 cataract operations performed on blind people. In spite of the fact that most of these operations are performed on elderly people, they are successful in eighty-five percent of the cases, and have resulted in many blind people having regained useful vision.

Casework services to recipients of Aid to Dependent Children payments have been intensified with the result that the turnover of recipients of this type of assistance reached sixty-seven per cent for each fiscal year of the biennium. Through the provision of casework services to these important members of communities in Montana, many families have been held together and many other families have attained complete self-dependency.

By and large, the staffs of the County Welfare Departments were fully manned with caseworkers. Fewer vacancies existed during the past two years than have existed since pre-war days. This is a real factor in the continuity of casework services.

LEGISLATION

Because the public assistance programs are financed through the use of local funds, State funds, and Federal funds, many complexities have developed through the years with respect to the formulas which determine the sharing of costs among the three levels of government. As Congressional action results in changing the amount of Federal contributions to assistance payments, there is also a necessary change in the amount of State and local contributions to the programs. As these changes occur, it becomes increasingly difficult for County Departments of Public Welfare and County Boards of Public Welfare to estimate their fiscal requirements for succeeding years.

In order to lessen the complexity of the formulas, it is recommended that there be legislative action to establish a single formula for State and local financial participation in assistance payments. The single formula would apply to all categories of assistance and would determine exactly the share for the counties and the share for the State over that amount contributed by the Federal Government.

In the 1951 Legislative Session, the Department recommended this same legislation, and the Reorganization Committee established by the Legislature also recommended this change to the 1953 Session. Since 1951, the local average share in public assistance payments has increased several percentage points. The trend will continue so that, as times goes on, the local share of public assistance will become greater.

The adoption of a single formula setting the percentage of State and of County participation in public assistance would prevent this trend from continuing.

To comply with the 1956 amendments to the Social Security Act passed by the last Congress, it will be necessary to have some amendments to the State Public Welfare Act. These will probably include modifications of the laws relating to the provision of medical care and hospitalization and a change in the Public Welfare Act that will give more positive support to the provision of casework services.

Child Welfare Services

The total child population under twenty-one years of age in the State of Montana was 218,665 in 1950. Our experience the past two years indicated that within this total child population there are approximately 1,400 children who, in one way or another, are in need of the services of this department. The average caseload month by month during this period was 1,070. The high month included 1,142 individual children, and the low month 1,017 children.

Of this group, in June, 1954, there were 297 children being cared for outside of their own homes in paid boarding homes. In August, 1956, this number had been reduced to 244, a reduction of 17.8 per cent, or fifty-three cases. During this biennium, 133 new cases were opened for foster home care. This figure, plus the decrease noted above, accounted for 186 children being removed from the foster home payroll. Of this number, 155 children were placed for adoption. This group included all ages and practically all races and religions.

The balance of the children making up the total of the monthly average of 1,070 children was given service within their own homes in order to prevent family breakdown, which would result in the children being removed from their parents. A survey for the year 1954 made by the Child Welfare Advisory Committee reveals there were 1,390 children in child-caring institutions within the state. Some of these children included referrals made by this department to the institutions.

Mr. Martin Gula's* report of January 24, 1956, revealed conditions and made recommendations concerning children in the State Orphans' Home. This report was officially made to the State Board of Education and to the Child Welfare Advisory Committee. The State Board of Education has taken note of the recommendations made concerning this institution.

During this biennium, the staff of the department licensed 351 foster homes, three child-placing agencies, and five day-care centers. An attempt was made by the State Board of Public Welfare to determine the numbers of child-caring agencies which require a license. The information obtained was not complete, but it can be concluded that there are many centers caring for children that have not applied for or received a license to operate. It is hoped that some way can be found to clarify the position of the operator in regard to whether he takes the initiative to seek the license or whether the department takes this initiative, and to determine whether or not the present licensing laws are enforceable in the event an operator refuses to be licensed.

The total staff attached to the Division of Child Welfare Services to do this job during this period numbered twenty-one on June 30, 1954, twenty-six on June 30, 1955, and twenty-three on June 30, 1956. During this period, it was necessary to make twenty-two additions to the staff. These additions resulted from twenty separations during the same period.

This rapid turnover of staff gives the administration of the department real concern in regard to how staff may be stabilized, with the goal in mind of giving the very best service possible to the families and children using the agency.

A recent study completed by the department indicates that our staff is located, for the most part, in counties with cities of 10,000 and over population. The study also revealed that the seven political subdivisions, now having child welfare staff, embrace only forty-two per cent of the total child population of the state, and that within this total child population, fify-six per cent of the active child welfare cases are known to exist. It follows that because of shortage of staff it has been necessary to give little or no service to fifty-eight per cent of the child welfare population of the state, in which we believe exist many child welfare cases which cannot get service.

It is believed by this department that notwithstanding a continually increasing population, a high rate of family breakdown through divorce and separation, and lack of staff to do the total job, a very good job has been done by the division within its limitations.

The department, during this period, has had considerable pressure applied to open up child welfare services to children on Indian reservations. The department recognizes its limitations as supported by the above statistics, and has continually taken the position that until staff and money are available to do the job, it is not feasible or practical to extend the service beyond the present range. In addition to this, the peculiar matter of jurisdiction of the State of Montana to extend these services on Indian reservations remains unresolved at the writing of this report.
